Where the sets are draped in tradition...

And the extras are dressed in reality.

The faces are as captivating as the landscape. And the people and crews as supportive as any you'll find.

On this big set called Montana, old west meets new west and tradition coexists with modern culture. While some things never seem to change here, the diverse land gives rise to surprising contrasts.

Transportation is readily available. And with our people scattered across 147,138 square miles, traffic jams are few here. We'll give you plenty of room to capture a vision as grand as your imagination.

Capture a time gone by...

Or just picture a hot time.

Much of Montana echoes a way of life long forgotten in most of America. Simpler times are etched into well-kept structures from a colorful past, while daily comforts assure our place in the present. It's all in reach as you take your vision to the screen.

Jim Wilder photo

Capture imagery that keeps the home fires burning. You'll find settings to satisfy your appetite and indulge your senses.

The stage is set for the return of vaudeville, another torch singer or a round of bootlegged booze. And the locals are ready to accommodate your crowd.

The action rolls naturally and the deals are made honestly. While the Montana Film Office doesn't require film permits, we'll guide you in obtaining others you may need.

We can lead you to halls that echo grand reunions and taverns filled with tidings of the day. In fact, we'll do all we can to make filming here easy. For assistance with scouting or production, the Montana Film Office is your liaison to the state's diverse natural, structural and professional wonders. Just call.

From the inspiration of silence...

To the emptiness of solitude.

The serenity of Montana passes through four distinct seasons, each grand enough to fill a big screen. But the boldest, by far, is winter. From delicate powder to sculptured drifts, Montana holds your picture-perfect setting.

Wayne Mumford photo

Every corner of the state sees a unique face of winter. While wild crocuses break through melting snow in one area, another remains shrouded in white.

Tim Rice photo

Warm chinook breezes often interrupt winter's bite, and the frost always yields to the rebirth of spring. Summer follows, with long daylight hours. At night, you can catch the aurora borealis dazzling the clear, northern sky.

Montana's varied countryside can take you to distant lands. You'll discover regions as vast as the arctic tundra and sites as promising as the Holy Land.

*Any chill passes quickly as Montana welcomes you into warm surroundings. We'll make your stay as comfortable and your filming as successful as we possibly can. # TAX LAWS & REGULATIONS

The Montana Film Office does not require film permits; however, the state park system and the Highway Department do require prior approval. Various federal agencies such as the National Park Service, the National Forest Service and the Bureau of Land Management require permits. In all cases, the Montana Film Office can act as your liaison with the appropriate agencies.

Insurance Requirements

The standard insurance requirement for shooting in Montana is one million dollars comprehensive general liability insurance in the form of an original certificate, covering the entire period of the shoot, naming the State of Montana and its employees as additional insured. Additional coverage may be required for hazardous work such as highway stunts. This certificate must be filed with the Film Office before shooting begins.

Sales Tax and Accommodations Tax

As of the print date of this publication, Montana is one of only five states without a sales tax. The four-percent accommodations tax, or "bed tax" levied in the state provides the sole funding for the Montana Film Office and for tourism promotion efforts in Montana.

Child Labor Laws

Montana does not have specific child labor laws covering children employed as actors, actresses, or performers in motion pictures or theatrical, radio or television productions. The state does, however, restrict certain types of hazardous employment for children. Employers must comply with federal child labor laws.

TAX LAWS & REGULATIONS

Income Tax Withholding

Every resident and nonresident employer doing business in Montana is required to withhold Montana income tax from wages paid to an employee for services rendered in this state. This tax is withheld as the wages are paid.

For more information contact:

Department of Revenue
P.O. Box 5835
Helena, MT 59604
(406) 444-3388

Unemployment Insurance

Employers liable under the Federal Unemployment Tax Act are also liable for Montana Unemployment Tax when hiring Montana employees.

Out-of-state employers bringing workers to Montana for a temporary job are subject to the reporting requirements of their base state.

For more information contact:

TRANSPORTATION PERMITS

Fuel Permits

All vehicles powered by diesel fuel or LPG have two licensing options for operating in Montana. Both are readily available and are either inexpensive or free.

Short Term—Temporary Fuel Permit
Driver must purchase permit at first open weigh station after crossing border. Good for 72 hours.

Long Term—Special Fuels License
Production Company/Driver must apply at least three days in advance of entering Montana. There is no charge for this license but quarterly records must be submitted while in the state.

For more information contact the Film Office or:

(406) 444-6131
Fax (406) 444-7670

Highway Shooting Permits

Before any film production work can be done on or next to a highway, the local Highway Maintenance Chief must be contacted. Arrangements must be made for the safety of the film crew, as well as the public.

For more information contact the Film Office or:

Dennis Unsworth

Motion Picture Permits

Permits are required and must be obtained in advance from the BLM office having jurisdiction for the area involved.

Depending on the scope of the project, rental fees for long-term or major projects may necessitate formal appraisals, special fees and a bond. Unless major land disturbance is anticipated, the process can be completed in approximately one week.

Still Shoot Permits

A permit is required for commercial still photography if it involves crews, actors, sets or appreciable disturbance of the proposed site. Permits are not required for news photographers or nonprofit groups.

Fees

Motion Pictures and Stills

| | | |
|---|---|---|
| $ 50 per day | 1-10 | crew members |
| $100 per day | 11-50 | crew members |
| $150 per day | 50 + | crew members |

Permits

Contact the Forest Service office at least two weeks in advance, or as soon as possible, of filming. A special-use permit is required for those productions involving structural improvements or significant occupancy of the lands by actors, crews, and/or equipment.

Motion Picture

|---|---|
| $150 per day | 1-10 crew members |
| $200 per day | 11-30 crew members |
| $500 per day | 31-60 crew members |
| $600 per day | 60 + crew members |

Still

|---|---|
| $ 50 per day | 1-10 crew members |
| $150 per day | 11-30 crew members |
| $250 per day | 30 + crew members |

A bond is generally required and a full-time on-site Forest Service officer is assigned when major productions are involved.

It is the policy of the National Park Service to allow and encourage filming to the fullest extent possible. NPS policy also requires that primary consideration be given to potential resource damage and to anticipated disruption of normal public use, as they relate to proposed filming activities. Production companies are required to comply with ALL park regulations. There can be no actual or implied endorsement by the National Park Service of any commercial product.

Permits

Contact the park filming coordinator to discuss proposed filming activities. Initial contact should include: the nature of the project (storyboard or script breakdown if available), shooting dates and times and the type and numbers of equipment and vehicles to be used. Two weeks advance notice is required to properly process requests and to determine feasibility; however, projects of lesser magnitude can be processed in a shorter time frame. Permits are granted by individual parks on a case by case basis.

Fees

Fees are not charged for filming permits; however, donations are accepted. Bonds and liability insurance may be required depending on the nature and extent of filming within the park . The amounts for each will be set by the park on a case by case basis.

INDIAN LANDS

Blackfeet Indian Reservation

Tribe: Blackfeet
Population: approximately 7,000

Location

On the eastern slope of the Rocky Mountains in northwestern Montana, bordering Canada on the north and Glacier National Park on the west.

Terrain

Timbered mountains on the west, dropping to rolling plains east and northeast. Elevation transition from 3,500' to 4,500' east to west.

Crow Indian Reservation

Tribe: Crow
Population: approximately 7,000

Location

South–central Montana, 40 miles southeast of Billings. Its southern edge borders Wyoming, and its eastern boundary connects with the Northern Cheyenne Indian Reservation.

Terrain

The elevation reaches as high as 9,000' in the mountainous areas. The million-and-a-half-acre reservation offers a variety of landforms with wooded valleys, pine-studded bluffs and buttes with rolling, grassy plains.

Crow Tribal Council

Flathead Indian Reservation

Tribes: Salish and Kootenai
Population: approximately 3,500

Location

The south half of Flathead Lake borders the reservation on the north. The eastern side of the reservation is bordered by the spectacular Mission Mountains.

Terrain

The reservation occupies 1.2 million acres in the Flathead River Valley of northwestern Montana. The valley is primarily pasture and farm land, studded with creeks and lakes. The Flathead River flows through the middle of the reservation--72 miles from Flathead Lake to its confluence with the Clark Fork River.

North-central Montana, 45 miles east of Havre.

Terrain

The more than 600,000 acres of reservation land are approximately 2,500' above sea level. Most land is open to grazing, with some crop and timberland. Rolling prairies with intermittent high hills make up the land forms. The picturesque ghost towns of Zortman and Landusky lie immediately south of the reservation.

Fort Peck Indian Reservation

Tribes: Assiniboine and Sioux
Population: approximately 4,000

Location

Twenty-five miles south of the Canadian border in northeastern Montana just five miles from 135-mile long Fort Peck Reservoir, one of the world's largest manmade lakes. The Missouri River forms the southern boundary of the reservation.

Terrain

Elevations range from 1,900' to 3,100' on this two-million-acre reservation of rolling hills covered with grass and grain. About half of the area is presently used for farming. Bottomlands, creek beds and coulees support natural timber.

Rocky Boy's Indian Reservation

Tribes: Chippewa and Cree
Population: approximately 2,500

Location

North–central Montana, approximately 30 miles south of Havre.

Terrain

There are 107,511 acres of land on the reservation proper and adjacent allotted lands. Altitudes range from 6,900' in the Bear's Paw Mountains to approximately 2,000' at lower elevations. The reservation has 5,000 to 7,000 acres of lodgepole pine, plus substantial stands of Douglas fir and ponderosa pine. Mountain and high-plains landscapes make up the reservation.

Located just west of Butte, Anaconda grew around the Anaconda Copper Mining Company's smelter. A symbol of the smelter, closed in 1980, still stands today in the 585' smelter smokestack: the tallest free-standing masonry structure in the world. The downtown area features turn-of-the-century buildings, including a large early day movie house, period street lamps, a courthouse situtated at the end of Main Street, and beautiful parks. To the west of Anaconda is the pristine Pintler Wilderness with its snow-capped peaks and high-mountain Georgetown Lake. Also close to Anaconda is Lost Creek State Park; a canyon park with steep limestone cliffs rising over 1,200' from the canyon floor.

Montana's largest city lies below the rimrocks of the Yellowstone River Valley. The area's diverse topography includes two breathtaking mountain ranges, rolling hills, wide-open plains and river-cut canyons. Here, vast ranches, farmland and stockyards are situated just outside the conveniences of a modern city. Billings features broad, tree-lined avenues, and the metropolitan flavor of Montana's tallest buildings. To the south is the Crow Indian Reservation. Billings is easily accessible by air or interstate highway.

Situated in the shadow of the Bridger Mountain Range, Bozeman is the centerpiece of the fertile Gallatin Valley, a large agricultural area. It is also home to Montana State University and its film and television school. Many of Bozeman's neighborhoods and parks still have the feel of a sleepy college town with frat houses and quaint, comfortable homes. The downtown area features a main street with rows of turn-of-the-century buildings. Bozeman is ringed by majestic peaks and steep canyons; it is a starting point for connections to the Gallatin Canyon and Yellowstone National Park.

At the turn of the century, Butte was one of the largest cities west of the Mississippi. Today, Butte's colorful history can be seen in its ethnic neighborhoods, preserved, Victorian uptown business district and stately mansions. Located virtually on the Continental Divide, the Mile High City lies on some of the world's richest mineral reserves. Its dominant feature is the Berkeley Pit, a huge open pit copper mine that consumed portions of the town as it grew to incredible size. The outlying area features numerous ghost towns and abandoned mines.

At the east entrance to Yellowstone National Park, Cooke City is an alpine village with snow much of the year. It is perhaps most famous for the road that connects Cooke City with Red Lodge. Called "the most scenic drive in America" by Charles Kuralt, the Beartooth Pass Highway (US 212) with dramatic switchbacks traverses the spectacular Beartooth Range of south-central Montana. The pass is open only in summer months (approx. June - October); however, the town is accessible by the Mammoth Hot Springs entrance at Yellowstone Park (Highway 89) in the winter. Impressive high mountain peaks and valleys abound.

Home to Montana's state prison, Deer Lodge is one of Montana's oldest towns. Now unused, the Old Territorial Prison with its heavy bars, gothic facade and huge prison yard, remains a favorite location. Deer Lodge also houses one of the world's largest antique Ford collections. Remnants of old mining camps can still be visited a few miles from town. The original Grant-Kohrs Ranch, one of the 19th century's biggest range ranches, still exists as a National Historic Site and a working ranch.

Located in the upper northeastern corner of Montana, the Glasgow area is rolling plains and open farmland. Established in the late 1800s as a railroad town, Glasgow grew in stature when the Fort Peck Dam was built a few miles south in 1933. One of the world's oldest and largest hydraulic earthfill dams, Fort Peck Dam stretches over four miles across the Missouri River. The now vacant Glasgow Air Force Base was a centerpiece for the community. The large 13,500' runway and 67 buildings of the base are in good repair.

Glendive is tucked between the badlands and the Yellowstone River, and is considered the hub city of the rich inland agricultural area of eastern Montana and western North Dakota. Large grain farms and ranches abound. Glendive's main street is one-sided with a massive railroad yard and roundhouse on the other side. Makoshika State Park, one of the most impressive badlands areas in America, borders the southern edge of Glendive. It is not only attractive with its highly unusual rock formations, but is a virtual warehouse of prehistoric fossils, mineral specimens and dinosaur bones.

Montana's second largest city is a marketing center with good air and highway connections. Grand vistas can be found in every direction; Great Falls is surrounded by mountains on three sides, as well as vast plains to the north. Within minutes you can be on a large wheat farm, in a beautiful winding river gorge, or a picturesque valley. The city, with its mid-western flavor, straddles the Missouri River which meanders toward natural falls on the northeastern edge of town.

Hamilton is located in the lush, agriculturally rich Bitterroot Valley of southwestern Montana. The town is the central trade area for hundreds of small farms, ranches and orchards that fill the valley. It is also home to the Daly Mansion built in the late 1800s for Marcus Daly, one of Montana's colorful "Copper Kings." The two-story mansion, situated on gorgeous tree-lined grounds, features 42 rooms and seven fireplaces. The scenic Bitterroot River and impressive peaks of the Bitterroot Range run more than 60 miles along the entire length of the valley.

Havre, a rural agricultural city, is situated close to the Canadian border amidst the wide panorama of the north-central plains. Also a railroad town, it offers modern city conveniences in a remote setting, surrounded by unaltered and uncluttered plains. Fort Assiniboine, a late 19th century army installation, complete with preserved buildings, lies six miles southwest along the Milk River. In the Bear's Paw Mountains to the south is Beaver Creek Park. This 10,000-acre park, one of the largest county parks in the United States, features rolling grasslands, wooded groves, rocky cliffs and rushing streams. The Rocky Boy's and Fort Belknap Indian reservations are nearby.

Downtown Helena is situated in a steep gulch with parts of the city perched on surrounding hillsides. This picturesque setting opens into a wide valley to the north. On the upper east side sits Montana's State Capitol. Helena's glorious past can be seen in its spectacular 19th century mansions, historic Last Chance Gulch businesses and restored pioneer dwellings. The St. Helena Cathedral, an imposing edifice, overlooks the downtown area. Numerous old mines and settlements exist close by. Just eight miles from the Continental Divide, Helena is surrounded by mountains. The Missouri River flows nearby with several lakes within a short driving distance.

Lewistown is a strong agricultural community located at the geographic center of Montana in the vast Judith Basin. The town features many well-preserved historic businesses and homes listed on the National Register of Historic Places. Nearby is the old mining town of Maiden. Although mostly rolling prairie, farms and ranches, the Lewistown area features two beautiful mountain ranges, the Snowy and Judith. From there, grand 100-mile vistas stretch out below. Picturesque landscapes, mountain terrain, and small quiet towns typify the area.

Libby lies in the Kootenai National Forest in the extreme northwestern corner of Montana. The area is surrounded by dense forest and has long been a logging center. Many natural and manmade wonders are close by. Kootenai Falls, the centerpiece of a scenic park is just a few miles west of town. Also nearby are the Ross Creek Scenic Area Giant Cedars-ancient, immense cedars rising hundreds of feet in the air. To the east is Libby Dam, a 420' high dam that forms 90-mile long Lake Koocanusa.

Livingston is at the head of the picturesque Paradise Valley leading to Yellowstone National Park. This 53-mile long valley follows the majestic Yellowstone River. Three breathtaking mountain ranges surround Livingston, with many large ranches, hot springs and ghost towns located nearby. The dominating theme of downtown Livingston is railroading. The historic Northern Pacific depot, with its curved colonnade and terra cotta ornament, has been restored to its original grandeur. Main street, with rows of uninterrupted period buildings, railroad workshops and yard works remains in a downtown area rich with history.

Steeped in Western history, Miles City remains a true-west town. Vast stretches of plains and badlands branch out in all directions. The Yellowstone and Tongue rivers flow unblemished in long sections. Once the horse trading and livestock center of the country, Miles City still has weekly livestock auctions and, once a year, puts on the Bucking Horse Sale for rodeo stock buyers and breeders. The Range Riders Museum features an extensive collection of western artifacts, including over 400 guns. Classic cars, wagons and restored old farm equipment are in good supply. The town features a complete 1950s era main street, 1930s era high school and an authentically refurbished early 1900s saloon.

Special Locations
Early 1900s saloon/bar, Range Riders Museum, Yellowstone River, rodeo grounds, thousands of acres of ranch land.

Located in the heart of the Rocky Mountains, Missoula is the center for commerce in western Montana. It is one of the state's largest cities and home to the University of Montana and its Performing Arts and Radio-Television Center. The Clark Fork River runs through the downtown area which features many classic early-century buildings. Of significance is the Historical Museum at Fort Missoula and its 12 structures. Because of its location, Missoula is a starting point for connections to the Flathead and Bitterroot valleys. Missoula is surrounded by majestic mountains and valleys, with eighty-seven percent of Missoula County being forest-land. Vast wilderness, ski hills and mountain roads are nearby.

Polson lies at the south end of Flathead Lake in northwestern Montana. The Flathead is a prime cherry growing region with many cherry orchards throughout the area. The Flathead River that flows from Polson features whitewater rafting and Kerr Dam. The broad, sweeping valley south of Polson is bordered by the rugged, snow-capped Mission Mountains. The National Bison Range at Moiese with its large herds of bison, elk, deer, antelope and bighorn sheep is nearby.

Shelby lies north of Great Falls on the great north–central plains of Montana. This is prime wheat growing country, but large cattle and sheep ranches also predominate. With the discovery of the Kevin-Sunburst oil field in 1922, Shelby became the center of a rich oil producing area. Shelby is historically significant for the Dempsey-Gibbons World Championship prizefight held there on July 4, 1923.

Sidney hugs the North Dakota border where the prairie stretches as far as the eye can see. The confluence of the Yellowstone and Missouri rivers lies nearby in a 75-mile long irrigated valley. It is a major wheat and sugar beet producing region. Located in the Williston Oil Basin, oil pumping and exploration can be found throughout the area. Sidney's Mondak Heritage Center features area history and includes an extensive street scene of the early 1900s. To the northeast is Old Fort Union, a classic frontier trading post of the 1830s to Civil War era.

Virginia City was born with the discovery of gold in Alder Gulch in 1863. A "boom town" of the post-Civil War era, Virginia City served as the Montana Territorial Capital for 10 years, until the gold ran out. Just a mile away lies Nevada City, a western town created from a collection of buildings from other ghost towns. Both towns have been largely restored and preserved as they once stood; living examples of the real Old West. One-hundred-and-fifty buildings have been certified authentic by the Montana Historical Society. The majestic Madison River Valley, just west of Virginia City, features some of the world's finest trout streams, as well as a beautiful mountain backdrop.

Whitefish lies directly to the west of Glacier National Park--one of the most scenic, breathtaking areas in America. Whitefish is surrounded on three sides by picturesque mountain peaks that include the Big Mountain ski area just outside of town. Whitefish still retains the warm, friendly charm of its bygone railroading days. The refurbished train depot along with the Western–style covered walkways are the focal point of the downtown area. Whitefish Lake, seven miles long, is partially within city limits.

Size and Population

Montana is a vast and varied state of mountains, canyons, river valleys, forests, grassy plains, badlands, and caverns. Its Big Sky covers a land area of more than 147,000 square miles, making Montana the fourth largest state in the nation. In area, it can accommodate Virginia, Maryland, Delaware, Pennsylvania and New York, and still have room for the District of Columbia. Yet, Montana's population is just 799,065, making it the sixth least-populated state. There are fewer people living in the entire state of Montana than in the city of Phoenix. In Montana, there is room to breathe. And nowhere is the air fresher.

Climate

Generally, Montana's weather is milder than many visitors might expect. After hearing about record low temperatures from some of our more notorious recording stations, like West Yellowstone and Cut Bank, some nonresidents think of Montana as an icebox. Unlike many areas of the nation, however, where winter settles in for keeps, Montana's cold spells are frequently interrupted by chinook winds and mild periods.

The beauty of Montana's weather system is that whether it is hot or cold, Montana is dry and, therefore, neither oppressively hot nor oppressively cold. Average annual rainfall is 15 inches, varying from 9.69 to more than 100 inches. Average daytime temperatures vary from 28 degrees in January to 84.5 degrees in July.

Wildlife Watching

Montana's magnificent wildlife—not just birds and mammals, but fish, reptiles and amphibians—are a part of Montana's heritage. You'll find them in marshlands and mountains, on the prairies, even in our urban communities. Montana is home to nearly 1,000 species of animals. Populations of elk, deer and pronghorn alone outnumber Montana's citizens. With a pair of binoculars and a healthy appreciation of living things, you can discover the diversity of wildlife that calls Montana home.

Montana's Watchable Wildlife Program promotes the conservation of fish and wildlife and their habitats through enhanced public understanding, viewing and appreciation of Montana's wildlife heritage.

The Montana Wildlife Viewing Guide offers information and directions to more than 100 wildlife viewing sites throughout the state.
